Life After Retirement*

What are you going to do for yourself and what will the cost be?

Are your expectations of returns on your investments realistic?

Will your investments keep up with inflation?

Are taxes a major consideration for you?

What is the most favorable way for you to create your cash flow?

Will your heirs be sustained financially when you are no longer with them?

What is the most suitable way to transfer my wealth?

Is conversion to a Roth IRA more efficient than my Traditional IRA?

Retirement may be the end of your working life, but it certainly is not the end of your financial life. There are many considerations to be examined before electing a course of action; then, who will monitor the course with you? Prudence would dictate that professional guidance should be used.

She is loyal, dedicated and always looking for ways to make her department run better and more efficiently. What makes Ms. Eldridge all the more remarkable is that she does so without asking why or what's in it for her, yet without Tracy and her co-workers the town would be rudderless during times of emergency.

Ms. Eldridge is the Town of Rochester's Chief Dispatcher, the person who is often on the other end of the phone when people call 9-1-1. On Friday, June 29, Tracy was awarded the Thirteenth Annual Jeff Grossman 9-1-1 Telecommunicator of the Year Award recognizing her as the state's outstanding dispatcher for the past year.

Rochester Police Chief Paul Magee nominated Ms. Eldridge based on her years of dedication to the town. Calling her the finest trainer he has ever seen, Chief Magee recounted the many hours of hard work that Ms. Eldridge has put in honing the skills of her staff as well as the countless number of grants that she has helped the department receive all in the name of public safety.

Tracy Eldridge began her career in Freetown, working as a dispatcher there before her arrival in Rochester in 1997. Since her arrival she has dedicated herself to the task of improving all aspects of the town's safety. Ms. Eldridge is not only the town's lead dispatcher, but she is also a member of the Fire Department and holds both Firefighter I and II certificates in addition to being a licensed paramedic. Her job requires her to handle calls for all of the town's emergency services including the fire department, police and EMT services. It is her knowledge of the various departments skills that Chief Magee cited as he explained what made Tracy special in her field.

During the ceremony in her honor, Selectman Dan McGaffey may have painted the best picture of the skill that Ms. Eldridge brings to her job on a daily basis as he described the events surrounding the day of the SEMASS facility fire earlier this year.

"I listened on the scanner to this calm voice that never wavered throughout that long day as Tracy directed units from over 30 different departments with a calm that I will never forget," Mr. McGaffey said, adding, "Tracy, I think that I speak for everyone when I say you do us proud, you do all of us proud."

The ceremony included most of the Town of Rochester's emergency personnel as well as representatives from the State House in Boston. Daniel Grossman, the son of the award namesake Jeff Grossman, made the presentation to Ms. Eldridge with several former winners of the award and the foundation President looking on. Ned Merrick, Chief of the Plainville Police Department and a longtime colleague of Mr. Grossman, recalled with high praise and great detail the efforts made by Mr. Grossman to implement better 9-1-1 system throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. State Representative William Straus awarded Tracy a House Citation recognizing her achievements while a member of State Senator Joan Menard's staff offered a similar resolution from the Senate chamber.

As she stepped to the podium to accept her awards, Ms. Eldridge said, "I think this is the first time in my life that I am actually speechless." As she began to speak, Ms. Eldridge's voice filled with emotion as she thanked her family, friends and colleagues for all of their support saying, "As I look around, the people that are here are the most important people in my life." She went on to say, "I hope that I can continue to teach people the skills of 9-1-1 communication. It is my life, it is important to me, but I wouldn't be able to stand here today if I didn't first thank my parents without whom I would not be the person that I am today."

The ceremony ended with a luncheon as tears of

Parent Gets Over $12,000 for Daughter's College Education

Cliff thought he would never be able to put his daughter through college. He was feeling guilty, frustrated and angry thinking he would have to tell her, "I can't afford to send you to the college of your choice. You'll have to settle for a State University or local community college."

But then Cliff got a copy of the free report: Nine New Ways to Beat the High Cost of College!

The free report revealed how he could save on the high cost of college, without spending his life and retirement savings! It turns out that Cliff's daughter was accepted to Boston University as an in-state student and the cost of attendance was lowered significantly... And she was awarded the full tuition. Regardless of your income, assets or home equity, I can show you how to get the money you need for college, too!

Flower Power

Mattapoisett Garden Group Plants Logo

By Robert Chiarito

With their dream of rendering the logo representing the Mattapoisett Sesquicentennial in the form of a beautiful flowerbed at the entrance of Shipyard Park realized, members of the Mattapoisett 150th Garden Group responsible for creating the garden took a moment on Saturday morning, June 30, to record their efforts in a special group portrait. Elaine Botelho and her gardening group have been planting flowers throughout the Mattapoisett village since early spring to help make the town a bit more colorful and festive for all of this summer's birthday celebrations. About a dozen members of the group gathered to do a little yard work and have their picture taken with the garden that has become the focal point of much interest surrounding the Sesquicentennial celebration.

Planning for this and other plantings began months ago as a loose group from several organizations began to conceive the idea that they could make the village burst with colorful window boxes and beds of flowers to help dress up the town for the big birthday bash. Laura Nunes, the artist who designed the logo for the celebration first hit upon the idea of rendering the logo in the form of a flowerbed. Over the winter the group held several fundraisers to gather the funds for the flowers and raise the interest of anyone who might want to use their green thumb to help the group's cause. Peter Gast of Mattapoisett Neck helped do his part by creating the top of the lighthouse from scrap metal to give the piece a bit more of a three dimensional look and feel. With all of that work complete and the garden blooming in full glory the idea of making a group portrait was suggested.

With all of the work that went into the special flowerbed, a special photograph seemed like a natural fit. With help from resident Danny White the group asked Village Signs if they could have the use of one of the business' lifts so the portrait could be taken from about 40 feet above the sight. The business agreed to help and the picture was taken under perfect conditions on the morning of June 30.

"Sorry, you'll have to excuse my dirty hands," said Elaine Botelho as she welcomed a visitor adding, "We're hoping for a good turnout" as members of the group began to arrive. "The picture is going to be on the cover of the next Town Report," Ms. Botelho said before succumbing to the urge to get her hands back in the dirt and clear away an unwanted weed.

Members have put in countless hours planting this and other beds from Shipyard Park to Ned's Point. The group volunteers have also given their time to do the watering and maintenance work necessary to keep the plantings looking fresh and beautiful. So, if you find yourself strolling through the Mattapoisett Village this summer please, stop and smell the flowers. The members of this group will be happy that you did.

Annual July 4 Mattapoissett Road Race
By Robert Chiarito

When the starter's gun sounds signaling the beginning of this year's 37th Annual Mattapoissett Road Race, organizers anticipate a record number of runners will head out through the streets of the town's village for the five-mile run. Race Director Danny White told The Wanderer, "I'm a little excited about the race this year. Usually by July 3 we have about 280 to 290 runners signed up. This year we have over 350 signed up as of June 30."

Mr. White tried to contain his enthusiasm as he recited the number of participants from years past and compared them to the preliminary results thus far this year saying, "I don't want to jinx things, but so far the results we have are about 150 runners ahead of where we normally are at this point. I don't know whether it's the online registration or what, but we are looking at a good turn out." With a record field expected, organizers are hoping that weather forecasts of possible rain will turn to plenty of sunshine and clear blue skies. Any chance of rain might keep the number of walk up runners, who register the morning of the race, down.

The five-mile, or 8.05-kilometer race will wind its way through the streets of Mattapoisett Village to Veterans Memorial Park at Ned's Point with the start/finish Line on Water Street in front of Shipyard Park. The race attracts an international field of seasoned racers as well as runners from throughout the South Coast area. Past races have included several Olympic Marathon runners among the field of competitors. Proceeds from the race benefit students who have graduated from Old Rochester Regional High School who have participated in the school's running programs and are planning to continue their studies at college.

In its 37-year history the race has become one of the bedrock events of the Mattapoisett's Independence Day Celebration. Volunteers help make the event the success that it is each year as they collect the entry fees, help set up the course and hand out water to thirsty runners at stations spread over the length of race's five miles. The event's organizers are hoping a few more people will volunteer to help with the various tasks involved with race day activities and urges any interested parties to arrive at Shipyard Park as early as possible on the morning of the race. Further information about the race results and its history can be found at the organization's website at www.mattapoisettroadrace.com.

Boy Biker

Young Rochester Racer Qualifies

Jake Pinhancos just made his dream come true. The nine-year-old dirt bike racer has qualified for the largest amateur motocross race in the world — the 26th annual AMA / Air Nautiques Amateur National Motocross Championships at Loretta Lynn's Ranch in Tennessee. Jake took on over 20,000 hopefuls from across America to earn one of just 1,386 qualifying positions.

"Every motocross racer in the country wants to compete in the Amateur Nationals," said Event Director Tim Cotter. "A win at there can serve as a springboard to a lucrative professional motocross career."

Most of America's top professional motocrossers, including Jeremy McGrath, Ricky Carmichael, Travis Pastrana and James Stewart, have won AMA Amateur National Championships. A victory at this race is so valuable that last year teenager Josh Hill from Yoncalla, Oregon, was rewarded with a six-figure pro contract from the Factory Yamaha racing team after winning two Amateur National Championships last year.

Jake, who attends Rochester Memorial Elementary School, has been riding since he was three years old. Sponsors such as professional rider Keith Johnson (also his coach), Thor Industries, SCOTT, and his family help pay his way to the races. Jake has won hundreds of races in the last four years, and competes nearly every weekend at variety of tracks along the East Coast.

Jake's parents, Leo and Sue, will pack up RV and head to Tennessee for the race, which runs July 30 through August 4. Jake's 10-year old sister, who also races, will join them on the family trip.

Jake is just one of the over 20,000 who spent the last four months attempting to qualify for the event. The top finishers in area and regional qualifiers earn a birth into the national championship race. Racers may enter a wide variety of classes, from minicycle classes for children as young as four, all the way up to a Senior division for riders over 45. There are also classes for women, and classes for both stock and modified bikes.

The track is built on a section of Loretta Lynn's Ranch and Campground in Hurricane Mills, Tennessee. The course contains a variety of jumps, corners and other obstacles designed to test the skills and stamina of the racers. Most riders attend the event with the help of their families. In fact, many groups consider the event their family's summer vacation. Besides races, the ranch provides family-friendly facilities including a game room, swimming pools, arts and crafts activities, and a fashion and talent show.

ence Room at Old Rochester Regional High School on Thursday, June 29 at 6:30 pm by Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen Chairman Raymond Andrews. Also present from Mattapoisett were Selectman Steve Lombard, Selectman Jordan Collyer, and Town Administrator Michael Botelho. Present from Marion were Selectman Andrew Jeffrey, Selectman Jonathan Henry, and Town Administrator Paul Dawson. Present from Rochester were Selectman Bradford Morse, Selectman Richard Nunes, Selectman Dan McGaffey, and Town Administrator Richard LaCamera. Marion Selectman Roger Blanchette was not present for the meeting.

The board first met with members of the Old Rochester Community Television (ORCTV, Inc.) Board of Directors to discuss their Annual Report and also to seek the boards' approval in amending their agreement with the ORR School District so they might relocate their base of operations to a site off-campus.

According to ORCTV President Kenneth Souza, some of the non-profit's noteworthy accomplishments during 2006 have included:

- Hiring their first Executive Director, Brian Alves, in January;
- Establishing policies and procedures for running Public, Education and Government (PEG) Access channels for the three towns in the winter of 2006;
- Installing cameras and equipment in the Marion Town House in May 2006;

PARASITES

I see these small worms under my cat's tail. What are they?

There are two types of intestinal parasites which are large enough to be visible to the naked eye, tapeworms and roundworms. Tapeworms are off-white in color and are usually the size of a grain of rice. They are spread to your pet by fleas. Another type of tapeworm is long, flat and somewhat serrated in appearance. Roundworms are common in kittens and puppies and look like spaghetti. See your veterinarian when you find worms and describe your findings. Often tapeworm eggs do not show up on routine fecal tests.

shows produced through ORCTV, accounting for an estimated 1,092 hours of original programming on Public Access Channel 9. In addition, the two courses at ORR High School provided some 66 additional programs for airing while Marion's Government Channel 95 logged about 870 hours of content (including repeats) and Mattapoissett's Channel 95 aired about 250 hours of programming (including repeats).

Unfortunately, 2006 ended with the discovery of some environmental problems within the ORCTV facility located in the lower level of ORR High School and the organization's office was temporarily relocated to a storefront adjacent to Uncle Jon's Coffee Shop on Front Street in Marion while the playback equipment for Channels 9 and 95 (Marion) was transferred to the Marion Town House.

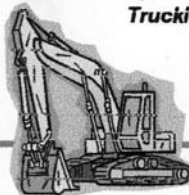

Since January the ORCTV Board of Directors has been looking to find a permanent location to house their main office, editing suites and playback equipment. After sending out "Requests for Proposals (RFPs)" to property owners within the tri-town area, they have found an ideal location at the corner of Front Street and Route 6 in Marion, the so-called Captain Hadley House office complex. ORCTV has been given the option to lease the entire first floor of the building for the remainder of their 10-year contract with Comcast.

In turn, ORCTV and the ORR School District have agreed to amend their prior agreement whereby ORCTV funded a teacher's position in exchange for using the space at the high school, and ORCTV will now provide the ORR School District with an annual grant to fund a teaching position that will serve not only ORR Junior and Senior High Schools, but all schools within the tri-town communities.

With that, the three Boards of Selectmen unanimously voted to sanction both the amending of the original agreement between ORCTV and the ORR School District (which previously had the unanimous vote of both entities) and also to approve the leasing of the first floor of the so-called Captain Hadley House for ORCTV's permanent base of operations through the remainder of their contract with Comcast — or about seven-and-a-half years.

The board next met with Norm Hills of the Marion Wind Study Committee for an update.

"The last time we presented to the Tri-Town Boards of Selectmen was two years ago (and) I wanted to give you an update on what's been going on with the (MET Tower at) ORR," Mr. Hills said. "The MET Tower at ORR, which had been allocated to Rochester, has been collecting data and ... we're just about to get one year's worth of data. We originally worked with the ORR School Committee to get an 18-month lease (and) we're now looking to get our first six-month extension."

Mr. Hills noted that although the data would indicate the wind speed and frequency at the ORR High School site is not optimal, it does meet the minimal requirements for installing a wind tower to power the facility.

"As of the third quarter, the average wind speed we were getting (was) 80-100 meters, which is sufficient wind to generate energy," Mr. Hills said. "Our next step is a feasibility analysis, which means we now have (another) application to fill out."

Mr. Hills noted the application needs to be filed by August 15, so he asked for the boards' blessing to work with Marion Town Administrator Paul Dawson to file the application in a timely manner.

"When they take that tower down, we can get that tower moved over to (somewhere in) Marion," Mr.

Hills said. "Here at the high school, I think this is a good indication that they want to proceed ... to generate enough energy to power the school."

"Because this is a regional effort and it's never been done before, it's my understanding the (ORR School District) would be responsible for the wind tower," Selectman Collyer said. "(So) I would encourage you to contact Dr. Cooper and keep him in the loop."

Mr. Hills agreed to collaborate with Dr. Cooper and the ORR School District and the joint boards' voted to have Mr. Hills work with Mr. Dawson to file the application for a wind tower installation at ORR High School.

The boards next met with Mattapoisett Water/Sewer Superintendent William "Nick" Nicholson to provide an update on the Mattapoisett River Valley Water District. Mr. Nicholson provided plans and photographs of the Water District's Treatment Plant currently being constructed to serve the regional communities of Marion, Mattapoisett, Rochester and Fairhaven.

"(All these towns) were involved in a study committee and it showed (they) could have a cost savings by working together," Mr. Nicholson said. "We looked at doing it individually and as a district. There was about a 40 percent reduction in costs doing it as a district."

Mr. Nicholson noted that once the treatment plant is online, it will have a maximum capacity to treat up to five million gallons a day, which is far in excess of what they need.

"There are a total of three wells from Fairhaven, three wells in Mattapoisett, (and) one in Marion," Mr. Nicholson said. "Currently Mattapoisett pumps 484,000 gallons a day; Fairhaven pumps 1.3 million gallons a day, and Marion does 629,000 gallons a day for a total of 2.4 million gallons collectively. The plant was built for up to five million gallons a day, so we don't expect to exceed that."

Since there are three wells currently shut down due to high levels of iron and manganese, Mr. Nicholson said the treatment plant will greatly increase the region's water capacity.

"They're not health risks, but they do create dirty water," Mr. Nicholson said of the iron and manganese.

He noted that one of the closed wells — Marion's well on Wolf Island Road in Rochester — is capable of pumping up to 800,000 gallons a day.

"The treatment facility is 130 feet in length, 80 feet in width," Mr. Nicholson said. "After bringing the water in, we'll be hitting it with ozone and then it goes through a baffling system to pre-treat the water and knock out the iron, then back into a clear well with six high-lift pumps (bringing it) back into the system."

Although the original budget for the project was set at $14.5 million, after bids came in it was increased to $16.5 million, but that also includes a $900,000 contingency which "hasn't even been scratched," according to Mr. Nicholson.

Under New Business, Rochester Selectman Morse asked about the varied rates for taking trash to the area transfer stations, and he was looking to have a uniform rate for all three towns. "There may be a way to save money by doing all three together," Selectman Morse suggested.

With that, the boards charged their individual Town Administrators to work on standardizing the transfer station rates for all three towns.

The boards agreed their next Tri-Town Selectmen's Meeting would be held sometime in September with Rochester hosting.

There being no further matters to come before the board, they unanimously voted to adjourn for the evening at 7:49 pm.

Vintage Baseball

The Ironsides Base Ball Club is looking for anyone interested in 19th century baseball. The Ironsides Base Ball Club takes its name from an actual baseball club that began playing in New Bedford in 1858. They will play the game wearing uniforms and using the rules and equipment of 1858. They are scheduled to play two games during the week of August 4-12 and are currently recruiting players, umpires, scorekeepers, and sideline interpreters.

During this week they are planning a 19th century "pick-up" game with Mattapoisett residents. No experience is necessary, just a love for the game and an interest in baseball history. Leave your glove at home. For further information or to sign up, please call Kyle DeCicco-Carey at 508-758-3308 or visit the SouthCoast Vintage Base Ball web site at www.scvbb.org or info@scvbb.org. Practice will be at Hastings Middle School, Field #3 in Fairhaven. If you saw an announcement for practice and you just want to show up, you're welcome.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Regarding the recent veto for a proposed new Fire Department building in Mattapoisett I feel compelled to share my thoughts:

1. Everyone loves the Fire Department.
2. Those of us who have family members in the Fire Suppression profession appreciate just how important, necessary, and life-on-the-line this type of work is or can be.
3. Those who don't have a family member in the professional also appreciate and need these men and women, everyday, 24/7, 365.
4. It is a noble profession for which not enough good can be said.
5. It takes a special type of person to put aside their own physical well being to try and help the public at large.
6. It takes dedication of a type few can offer the public.
7. Being fully trained and having the proper equipment to do the job is paramount.
8. Having equipment that is up-to-date and fully operational is paramount.
9. Understanding that you will be taken for granted as a firefighter goes with the territory.

10. No one will appreciate you more than someone you've helped during a fire incident.

11. Requesting $4 million from a little town is taking advantage of good will.

I work in the construction industry. I know what $4 million can buy. Regarding the argument that steel buildings wouldn't work well in Mattapoisett because of hurricane winds and such, I say, get real.

No doubt those who spent years planning a new Fire Department building did so with the best of intentions. Possibly with an eye towards the future. Maybe they were thinking that as the town grows, one day we would have a full-time Fire Department. Then and only then would such a large building with so many rooms be required. We have a volunteer Fire Department. They go home after the emergency. Does the Fire Department Building really need a Community Room? Let's be reasonable and responsible. I think people heard the case for a new building, wanted to provide that for all concerned but simply couldn't fathom why the structure needed to be so large.

Let's look at the equipment that needs to be stored, the man-power who would be using the space on a full-time basis and go from there.

We can and should give the Fire Department new digs. But reasonable digs.

One wonders why, when the Police Department was being discussed, there wasn't more effort into combining the two services into one larger space and getting a really good bang for our tax buck. But, alas, that is all in the past now.

When this subject is re-visited, and in spite of the Chief's sense of rejection now, it will be addressed again in the future, let's think about the average family trying to live in Mat-

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Planning Committee, we would like to thank the tri-town community for their unconditional support of the third annual Relay for Life of the Tri-Town held June 8 and 9, 2007 at the Old Rochester Regional High School. Relay For Life is an overnight American Cancer Society event that celebrates survivorship and raises money to fight cancer. Twenty-one teams for a combined total of 308 participants camped out at the high school track taking turns walking around a track that at night was illuminated with hundreds of glowing bags, each bearing the name of a cancer survivor or someone lost to the disease.

This year's Relay hosted 40 survivors at a pre-event Survivor Reception catered by the Lareau Family, the Mattapoisett Chowder House, and Turks' Restaurant. The invocation written by Mattapoisett's Brad Sell, a prostate cancer patient and ordained minister, unable to attend the event due to illness was read by his longtime friend Marcia McGee of Marlborough. Following a moving speech by Ray Cebula of Mattapoisett, a two-year throat cancer survivor, the cancer survivors and Relay honorees led the opening lap.

A reflective luminaria ceremony at 9:00 pm was led by bagpiper, Brandon Begley with inspirational vocals by Cathy Artists will meet at 8:00 am, then reconvene in the afternoon to put their works, fresh from the easel, on display, making them available for Silent Auction bidding under the Art Tent at Shipyard Park throughout the day until 7:15 pm. Winners need not be present and will be announced at 7:30 pm. Proceeds from the auction will be shared between the artists and the Mattapoisett Free Public Library's endowment fund for furnishings, landscaping and other ongoing needs.

The Fresh Paint event — a rain or shine activity — is just one of several art and music offerings planned on July 17 in support of the Mattapoisett Library. Area residents are encouraged to bring their children to Shipyard Park for Old Fashioned Games run by the library's Children's Department staff from 3:30 to 5:30 pm, and a blanket or lawn chairs for sampling the picnic pleasures while enjoying live musical entertainment from 4:00 to 7:00 pm. This year's performers include the soft-rock band "Mr. Whoopie" and jazz and blues by the Wallace and Gries Duo.

Sixteen Mattapoisett restaurateurs will also be serving up their support with "A Taste of the Town" from 5:00 to 7:00 pm under the Lion's Tent in Shipyard Park. The following local establishments will add flavor to the evening: The Cathay Temple; George's Take-Out Deli and Meat Market; The Kinsale Inn at Mattapoisett; Lesco's

Before you apply those lawn products, know these important facts

.... what you do to your lawn affects our bays, rivers, streams and drinking water

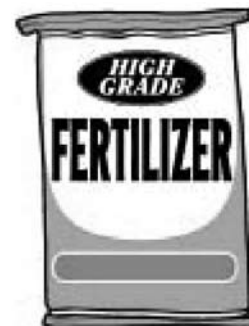

FACT: Lawn fertilizers do not stay on your lawn. The nitrogen and phosphorus in fertilizers travel great distances and end up in the groundwater we drink and in water bodies like Buzzards Bay. Nitrogen and phosphorus are very harmful to our water.

FACT: Fertilizers that reach the water can kill fish, shellfish and aquatic vegetation. Once the nutrients from fertilizer enter a water body, they dramatically increase the growth of algae. Algae blocks sunlight from entering the water and leads to the death of other important aquatic vegetation. Decaying algae decreases the oxygen available to fish. Eventually the fish die. Decaying algae also kills shellfish and other bottom dwelling species because it settles on the bottom and suffocates whatever lives there.

FACT: The poisons you put on your lawn can get into the water we drink. Pesticides and herbicides travel from your lawns and gardens and contaminate our water with chemicals that are toxic to both humans and animals. These chemicals can travel into water sources as surface runoff or by leaching into the groundwater.

FACT: You can minimize the damage from fertilizers, pesticides and herbicides. How we care for our lawns will affect the quality of water for many people. We need to act in a way that will preserve water quality for those around us now and in future generations.

15 Easy Ways to Keep Our Water Healthy

1. Test your soil

- A soil test identifies the nutrients already present in your soil, so you only apply the right amounts of what your soil needs. This will prevent excess nutrients from entering the environment and save you time, energy and money.
- For details contact the UMASS Soil Testing Lab at (413) 545-2311 or visit their website at www.umass.edu/plsoils/soiltest

2. Follow directions

- Fertilizers are sold using a formula of three numbers (for example: 10-20-10 or 5-10-5). The first number is nitrogen, the second number is phosphorus and the third is potassium.
- The results of your soil test, as well as what type of plants you are fertilizing, should determine what fertilizer you choose.
- Always use the lowest possible amounts of fertilizer, pesticides and herbicides. Over application impairs plant growth, weakens a plant's ability to resist pests and disease, and damages the environment.

3. Time applications carefully

- Never apply fertilizers before heavy rain or when cold weather is expected. Heavy rain increases runoff and leaching into ground-water.
- In cold weather, plants can't absorb nutrients. That means the fertilizer stays on the ground where it is more susceptible to runoff.

4. Maintain a strip of natural vegetation between lawns and wetlands

- This vegetated buffer zone will help filter and trap nutrients before they are able to reach the water and help prevent erosion.

5. Handle lawn chemicals carefully

- Never spill fertilizers, pesticides or herbicides on concrete surfaces where they can easily runoff into water.
- Do not mix, apply or dispose of pesticides or herbicides with 100 ft. of your well, storm drains or any surface water. Always dispose of containers properly.

6. Water your lawn after fertilizing

- Proper irrigation will help the fertilizer be absorbed, making it less likely to runoff.
- Water lawns in the morning.
- Use only enough water to saturate the root zone.
- Do not water again until you see signs of wilt or footprinting.
- Do not overwater lawns and never water before heavy traffic is expected. Both of these practices increase nutrient runoff and weaken the turf.

7. Use organic materials

- Recycle grass clippings by leaving them on the lawn. As they decompose, clippings will provide the soil with nutrients, reducing chemical fertilizer needs by up to 25%.
- You can also create a compost pile and use the compost as a slow-release fertilizer.

8. Plant native grasses

- Native grasses require less water, fertilizers and pesticides than non-native species.
- In sandy soil areas around Buzzards Bay, plant a mix of fine leaved fescues and perennial rye grasses.
- White clover added to your lawn mix provides a natural nitrogen source.

9. Mow your lawn correctly

- Mow your lawn to 2" during the first cut of the season and 3" during each subsequent mowing.
- You should never cut off more than 1/3 of the grass blade at a time.
- This will give you healthier, well-rooted grass that is better able to resist pests and needs less fertilizer.
- Use compost blades on your mower and always make sure your blades are sharp. Mulching mowers do not contribute to thatching problems.

10. Add organic material, or loam, to sandy soil

- If you have sandy soil, add a layer of at least 6" of loam.
- This will increase the water holding capacity of your soil.

11. Aerate compacted soil

- This reduces runoff by helping fertilizer get into the soil.

12. Use natural enhancers on your lawn

- To balance acidic soil, use lime. For greener grass, use an iron supplement. This will help decrease the amount of harmful nutrients entering our aquatic environment.

13. Focus on specific problem areas

- Spot apply fertilizers and pesticides whenever possible instead of treating your whole lawn. This decreases the amount of chemicals entering the environment.

14. Use slow-release fertilizers

- Fertilizers are usually divided into two groups, water soluble nitrogen (fast-release fertilizers) and water insoluble nitrogen (slow-release fertilizers).
- Slow-release fertilizers provide a more controlled release of nitrogen than other products. Instead of containing nitrogen that dissolves in just water, slow-release fertilizers rely on chemical or microbial activity in order to release their nutrients, making it less likely that they will reach the water.

15. Increase natural landscaping

- Minimize your lawn size.
- Healthy grasses can tolerate some competition from weeds and other pests without requiring the use of herbicides.
- Ground cover plants can be mixed with grass, lowering your fertilizer needs. A healthy, well-maintained lawn requires little or no fertilizer.
- Remember, a perfect lawn is not necessary, especially when it carries such high environmental costs.

selection was memorable and the musicians of the Buzzards Bay Musicfest, under the direction of Maestro Russell Patterson, once again astounded the audience with their amazing talent. How do they follow-up this year? It could be called the "summer for strings" as many of the pieces planned will feature their talented string players. And what is also incredible is that in this, their eleventh year, they have never repeated a piece.

The eleventh annual Buzzards Bay Musicfest will be held in Marion from July 11 through July 15, 2007.

The Buzzards Bay Musicfest brings orchestral and chamber music performances to the acoustically superb Fireman Performing Arts Center at Tabor Academy on Front Street in Marion.

Admission is FREE and the performances are open to all.

Nationally-prominent musicians will perform under the direction of Maestro Russell Patterson, formerly of the Kansas City Orchestra and Lyric Opera. Orchestral performances will be held Wednesday, July 11 at 8:00 pm and Sunday, July 15 at 2:00 pm. Chamber music performances will be held Thursday, July 12 at 8:00 pm and Saturday, July 14 at 8:00 pm.

A special rehearsal performance open to children and an accompanying adult will be held on Wednesday, July 11 at 2:00 pm. There will be an opportunity for the children to talk to the conductor and musicians after the performance.

Exchange Students in Mattapoissett

International exchange high school students are coming to study in the Mattapoissett area during the 2007-08 school year. These students will integrate themselves into a Mattapoissett area family with the goal of experiencing American culture as an American high school student does. In turn they will provide insight into their own culture.

STS Foundation, a non-profit student exchange organization, is proud to help facilitate these relationships. They have been doing so for the past 20 years and look forward to finding new host families in Mattapoissett and connecting them with exchange students. Students this year include Krzysztof; he is a 17-year-old boy from Poland who loves playing soccer; he also enjoys working with computers. He is very excited to learn about American culture. Nicole is a very active 16-year-old girl from France who loves playing badminton and practicing Aikido. She also loves animals and says she is very excited to discover the people and traditions of America. They are both excellent students and will have their own spending money and health insurance. The host family provides a separate bed, family meals and a safe environment.

Marion Youth Minister

Teens! Teens! Where have they gone? Why don't they come to church any more?

There is something missing from many Sunday worship services ... teens. Like their contemporary parents, teens find it hard to prioritize church attendance, seek more personal fellowship and desire less traditional ways of growing in their spiritual lives and developing in their faith.

Unlike the days when many families dedicated one day a week to church related activities (which might have very well included a destination free Sunday afternoon drive,) weekends have become for most teenagers a whirlwind of organized activity, necessary employment and academic related commitments. The small windows of time which do present themselves are reserved for such luxuries as helping around the house, participating in community service or the much needed catching up on their sleep.

And if they did have the time? Cynthia Woolever in The Parish Paper (June 2007) notes, "Most young adults do not believe that organized religion is the only path to experiencing God." She recommends a host of strategies for enhancing the quality of each member's spiritual needs including; "multiple entry points" such as small-group study, mission work and social events, the use of technology to communicate in a manner more comfortable to teenagers, integrating young adults into all aspects of congregational life, and hiring staff for young-adult or youth ministries.

Over the past few years, the First Congregational Church of Marion, began recognizing it wasn't exempt from the national trend of a declining number of teenagers participating in their Sunday worship services and recently made the decision to hire a part time youth minister. A search committee was formed under the direction of Aimee Fox and is actively seeking applications for this twenty hour a week position beginning as soon as possible.

Interest by individuals in the Southcoast area with a transparent energy and spirit for working with youth from the ages of 13 to 18 years, is strongly sought. The qualified applicant will possess the potential for carrying out the general mission of a more vital youth

Marion Community Fund

The Marion Community Fund at the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts (CFSEMA) has announced applications are now available to help qualified Marion residents with their 2007-2008 property taxes.

The Marion Community Fund was established in 1999 by Sharlie Sudduth in an effort to provide qualified Marion homeowners with property tax relief. The Fund's goal is to preserve the town's diversity and character by providing property tax relief for Marion homeowners who are a key part of the town's makeup and who might be forced to leave Marion due to higher taxes.

The Marion Community Fund hopes people who qualify will apply. If you are a Marion homeowner, have owned your home for at least one year, have earned income of less than $20,000 and have assets of $35,000 or less (excluding your home), you may be eligible for tax relief.

Applications are available at the Town Hall in Marion, the Council on Aging, and the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts at 227 Union Street,

(This program is supported by the generosity of the Friends of the Plumb Memorial Library.) It is free and open to registered Summer Reading participants.

"Tattle Tales" is really a one-person variety show co-created with the audience in celebration of music to inspire summer reading. The folktales will all involve music shared by the audience. You'll be invited to waltz along, clap along and sing along. It is designed to be lots of fun for ages 4 through adult and is about an hour long. Please bring blankets and /or beach chairs, as the performance will be held outside.

Ms. Maichack is a national award-winning singer, storyteller and multi-instrumentalist who has performed some 3,000 shows in libraries, schools and festivals since 1989. MOVIE REVIEW

Live and Let Die

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

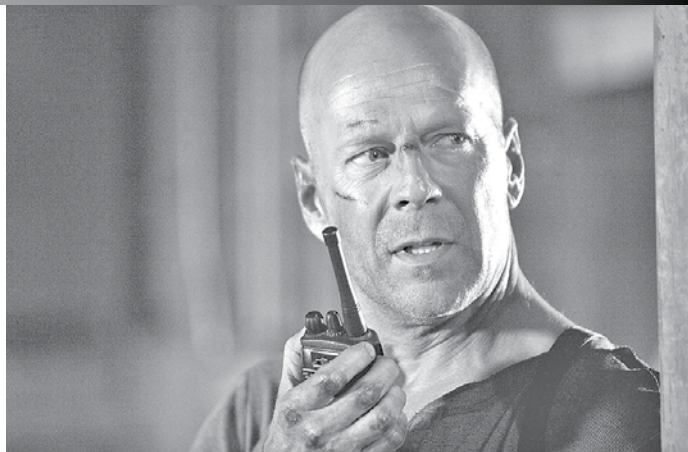

Live Free or Die Hard. Starring Bruce Willis and Justin Long. Directed by Len Wiseman. Running time: 130 minutes. MPAA rating: PG-13.

The original Die Hard was a beautiful machine of mayhem, full of colorful characters and great, funny dialogue that had little to do with the action ("Hello, this is Agent Johnson ... No, the other one"). Since it made big money, it has spawned several unmemorable sequels, including the new one, Live Free or Die Hard. The first film had crazy action sequences and a winning hero in blue-collar NYC cop John McClane (Bruce Willis), but it also let itself breathe and flesh out all the other pieces on the board — it probably has the best overall supporting cast of any action flick in the last twenty years, starting with the incomparable Alan Rickman, whose Hans Gruber has spoiled us for all other movie masterminds in or out of the Die Hard franchise.

The new film brings back McClane and the insane action, but is as clueless about the original's appeal — what makes it compulsively rewatchable — as the previous two follow-ups. It turns McClane into a wisecracking action figure, running here and there with computer whiz Justin Long to protect him from nefarious hacker Timothy Olyphant. It throws in some comic relief — recruiting Willis' fellow Jersey native Kevin Smith as a cellar-dwelling hacker who calls himself The Warlock — but by and large it lacks personality.

For starters, Timothy Olyphant just isn't a terribly compelling villain, or a particularly threatening one. Sure, his posse of minions manage to blow stuff up and perforate every standing piece of architecture with gunfire. And sure, he manages to kidnap McClane's estranged, college-age daughter (Mary Elizabeth Winstead). But there's no menace to any of it, because if Olyphant's hacker can do pretty much anything with computers, McClane can do pretty much anything with brute force. It's nice of 20th-Century Fox to give us a Batman vs. Joker movie a year early, but it's still not a Die Hard movie.

Director Len Wiseman (fifteen when the first Die Hard came out) foregoes the Hot Topic style of his previous Underworld series and delivers a fast-paced romp. The proceedings are brutal, though not bloody enough to get an R rating; there's been much grousing on the Internet about Fox forcing a PG-13 on this installment, whereas the others were allowed all the gore — not to mention all the F-bombs — they needed. Truthfully, it doesn't make all that much difference, since this wouldn't feel like a John McClane adventure even with the splatter and the hero's signature line, "Yippie-ki-yay, mother-----." Willis rocks a chrome dome here, ostensibly because McClane is older and balder now — a fine time to capitulate to realism in a movie that sees McClane outrace a disintegrating overpass in a truck — and he retains McClane's puckish habit of taunting his foes with reminders of how he killed their buddies. He's lighter of spirit here than he has been in a while, but the appeal of his character — the working-class guy who outwits evil geniuses with a little bit of Jersey street smarts — get nuked here because most of his triumphs are based on dumb luck (killing a helicopter with a car) or flatly superhuman feats of agility.

Which, to be fair, seem to be shared by the villains. Maggie Q (who has yet to be used well in a Hollywood film) appears as one of Olyphant's thugs, and she mops the floor with Willis, who then drives a car into her at full speed, plowing her through several walls. Despite this, she's unharmed enough to continue beating the snot out of Willis moments later when the car is dangling in an elevator shaft. A lot of people keep wanting a sequel to Willis' 1991 goof Hudson Hawk, but Live Free or Die Hard comes close to being Hudson Hawk 2 without the singing and the hipster indolence. John McClane has been hauled out of mothballs to show all the young pups how action movies are done, a good idea in theory but not, apparently, in execution.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be prepared to face some challenges stirred up by an envious colleague. Your best defense is the Arian's innate honesty. Stick with the truth, and you'll come out ahead.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your sensitivity to the needs of others is admirable. But be careful to avoid those who would take unfair advantage of your good nature, especially where money is involved.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Having an optimistic attitude is fine, as far as it goes. But don't be lulled into a false sense of confidence. There are still problems to deal with before you can totally relax.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You might feel somewhat "crabby," as you fuss over plans that don't seem to work out. Maybe you're trying too hard. Ease up and let things happen without forcing them.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Heed that keen Leonine instinct. It's trying to tell you to delay making a decision until you're sure there are no hidden problems that could cause trouble later on.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good time to reach out to those who might be nursing hurt feelings over recent events. Best advice: Ignore any pettiness that could delay the healing process.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your understanding helps a colleague get through a difficult period. Although you didn't do it for a reward, be assured that your actions will be repaid down the line.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You score some high marks in the workplace, which will count in your favor when you face the possibility of changing direction on your current career path.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Your goal lies straight ahead. Stay focused on it and avoid distractions that could throw off your aim and cause potentially detrimental delays.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Keep that burst of exuberance in check and resist pushing through your new project before it's ready. In your personal life, a family member again needs help.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Paying attention to your work is important this week. But so are your relationships with those special people in your life. Make time for them as well.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Good news. Someone is about to repay a long-standing debt. But be warned. That same someone could try to charm you into lending it back unless you say no and mean it.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are sensitive to matters that involve your home and family. You would make a fine social worker or family-court judge.

A POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so I can attain my goals, you who give me the divine gifts to forgive and forget all evil against me, in this short prayer, to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory, thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Only your initials shall appear at the bottom. S.F.

overwhelmed with curiosity about the people who used to live in her house. Next, Kathleen Lusk Brooke and her husband, George, love that their home was built with elegant and expensive materials, but they wonder how they got to the small New England town of Mattapoisett, MA, and who could afford to put them there. Then, Monty Dixon thought everything in her Belleville, IL, home was sold in an estate sale before she moved in, but it turns out that there are still treasures lurking in the dark basement. Finally, when Sharon and Dave Oster bought their dream home in Boise, Idaho, they never expected to find whiskey bottles under the floorboards and a secret room in the basement."

I found the Aardvark!

Each week we will give away an Aardvark Gift and each month we give away a special Aardvark Gift Basket to one lucky person. All you have to do to enter is find the Aardvark! The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

The winner will be selected from all the correct answers picked by the deadline and the prize will have to be picked up at our office. Only one entry per household per issue please.

To enter, simply find the aardvark in this issue, then go to our web page and select the link "I Found the Aardvark" entry page. If you would like to enter by mail, send your name, address and phone number along with the issue date and page number you found him in to: Wanderer - I Found the Aardvark, P.O. Box 102, Mattapoissett, MA 02739.
